

Radical Transparency For Wildlife

Profiling the fashion industry's commitment to sustainability.

The fashion industry is one of the largest users of endangered and exotic species, in the form of its raw materials.

1. What specific initiatives does the XX currently have in place to ensure the sustainability of CITES listed species used in the fashion industry?
2. Given CITES uses a 1970s paper-based permit system and its trade data doesn't match customs records, what does the XX recommend to use to demonstrate transparency and sustainability within supply chains?
3. To what specific initiatives have the XX's partners committed, to improve the quality of CITES related reporting and the supply chain traceability for the CITES listed species they use?
4. What funds does the industry currently commit to improve transparency and sustainability in the use of CITES listed endangered species in [country]?
5. What specific future plans does the XX have to tackle the laundering of illegal items into the legal supply chain?
